Three Additional Conclusive Ways All the Rights were Transferred

If all the substantiation of this website were not enough, the sovereign ownership rights, titles and distinctions of the principality of Halberstadt were also transferred to our family simultaneously, during the same time-period by three more distinct and separate legal mechanisms. All four methods are binding and conclusive independent of each other, but are legally related.

Thus, not one, but four conclusive procedures legally established the same thing – a valid and authentic transfer of all rights. (See "Three More Legally Binding Methods Transferred All the Rights to the Principality")

Over 40 substantial legal facts support this claim. What is the probability that in 40+ major ways all the rights would be legally and lawfully given to us? The probability actually amounts to an extremely small figure – a one in 1.1 trillion chance that it could be wrong, or put in another way, there is a 1.1 trillion to one likelihood that it is completely and totally right and true. In other words, from the certainty of the exact science of probability, the mathematical likelihood of this claim being wrong is, for all practical purposes, unimaginable or obviously beyond any reasonable or rational doubt. The case is that powerful and that certain. (See "The Mathematical Certainty of the Claim")
